Where lawyers become friends

The ILN is an association of 91 high-quality, full-service law firms with over 5,000 lawyers worldwide. The Network provides clients with easily accessible legal services in 67 countries on six continents.

To keep pace with the increasingly global nature of our economy as modern technology bridges the gap between countries and continents, it is essential for companies to have accessible and reliable legal counsel around the globe. As companies navigate the uncertain terrain of foreign business environments, trustworthy and timely advice and personalized attention can mean the difference between success and failure.

The International Lawyers Network understands the importance of delivering high quality service through our member firms to their clients. As one of the largest networks of experienced attorneys in the world, the ILN provides a platform for clients to access quality legal professionals worldwide, with the cost-effectiveness and personalized service only independent, regional law firms can provide. The excellence, demonstrated experience, worldwide presence, and relationships of the International Lawyers Network combine to make us one of the leading associations of independent law firms in the world.

Our firms have been helping clients with their international legal and business needs through their ILN partners since 1988. Become an ILN member to be a part of our vast global legal and business network.

Sincerely,

Lindsay Griffiths

Benefits of Membership

The ILN offers wide coverage in major commercial centers around the world, so wherever your clients' needs are, you have confidence that the ILN member firm will deliver the same level of service that you do.

Your ILN relationships go beyond each individual file – these relationships ensure that your files are handled by a firm that will treat your clients the way that you treat your clients.

Membership enables our firms' clients to have quick access to the local knowledge of law firms in foreign jurisdictions without the expense of opening and maintaining an office in other countries.

The ILN offers its members a smoother delivery of your services to your clients because each of our firms is vetted to ensure they are of the highest quality.

The relationships among our member firms allow for the exchange of business opportunities for the benefit of you and your clients.

The International Lawyers Network is a powerful marketing tool – from enhancing the visibility of our members through our social media outlets to recommendations and referrals by firms that believe in your expertise, our members are consistently in the spotlight for existing and prospective clients.

The ILN Administration works hand-in-hand with each of our members to ensure that they are able to make the most out of their ILN membership, from addressing individual concerns and supporting firm efforts to assisting members in collaborating with each other.

The ILN Administration uses new technologies to raise the profile of the ILN and its members – Social networking through Twitter, LinkedIn and Facebook, increased member contact and education through ILN-hosted webinars, and the ILN blog "Zen and the Art of Legal Networking," aid in increased exposure for member firms and the ILN.

ILN Membership Criteria

Firms should be independent, responsible for their own staffs and work practices.

They should be mid-sized in their jurisdictions, with substantial partner involvement and oversight in client matters.

Members should have strong domestic focus and experience, coupled with significant expertise in international business matters, with English fluency.

Firms must demonstrate an ongoing commitment to the operation and development of the International Lawyers Network.

Firms should have broadly based commercial, corporate, business and litigation practices, with a focus on growing and developing new clients.

Members should be well-established within their local jurisdictions.

Membership in the ILN is non-exclusive and participation in regional and practice-specific networks is encouraged. However, it is preferred that members are not part of other international legal networks.

Members must hold an appropriate level of liability insurance for their jurisdiction, to be reviewed by the Board of Directors.

From the Members

Pál Jalsovszky, Jalsovszky Law Firm

"The real strength of ILN is that they provide a community, an international community that I feel myself being a part of. ILN provides us a security net that internationally I'm supported, anywhere in the world I can find a reasonable advisor. I'm very happy to gather together, and to get together and to meet and get to know people from different countries, different jurisdictions with different mindset."

Scott Swenson, Connolly Gallagher

"One of the biggest benefits really for firms like ours is the opportunity to partner with lots of great lawyers and law firms from other jurisdictions around the globe. That really gives us an edge competitively because it allows us to work with clients who may have needs in other jurisdictions. Having a partnership like the ILN that allows us to be plugged in with firms of a similar stature and caliber around the world really gives us a competitive edge, that other firms of our size don't have."

Can Natan, Özcan & Natan

"There are people that I've met maybe 30 times, 25 times, throughout my life. I've met many great lawyers, many friends at ILN meetings. And it makes my life very easy when it comes to refer a matter to a friend that I know, that I know his skills, and that it's someone that I trust. This is very valuable to us, actually."
